AboutMe

From the moment "Hello World" appeared in Firefox as a result of code I had written, I knew I was hooked into the world of web development. But web development has grown beyond just a hobby for me, it's a passion. It appeals to me through it's engaging challenges, the opportunity to always be learning, and as an outlet to create. To continue improving my skills in this exciting, rapidly evolving industry, I'm looking to join a professional team of developers.

Below you'll find some projects that showcase my skills and background in developing software. I have a portfolio demonstrating my proficiency with HTML, CSS, SASS, JavaScript, React, Ruby, and Ruby on Rails.

Projects

PostIt (https://lit-cove-6280.herokuapp.com)
A Reddit-like clone. Users create an account and then can create, filter, vote on, and comment on posts.

Utilizes the Ruby on Rails framework.

yogabyaj.com (https://yogabyaj.com/)
A website for a talented NYC based yoga instructor. It's the freelancing project I most enjoyed working on, and I'm currently working on a redesign to launch this summer.

Utilizes HTML5, CSS3, Bootstrap, and Javascript. I also integrated external services such as MailChimp and Google Calendar for the client
